Agency Replies To Herald Story

Miss Mae Smith, county welfare worker, has requested that the following bulletin of the Department of Economic Security be run in the Herald to explain what the people of Perry County can do for "neglected and dependent children" here.

Miss Smith noted with interest the Herald article on "Children of Hazard Streets: What of their Future?" The following department bulletin explains the role of the average citizen in the matter of child welfare.

"Many of Kentucky's neglected and dependent children are the wards of the Department of Economic Security at Frankfort and are under the supervision of the Division of Children's Services, Department of Economic Security. These children are currently located at the Kentucky Children's Home, Lyndon, Kentucky, and in various boarding homes throughout Kentucky. Some of these boys and girls have become victims of circumstance because of illness or death in their families; broken homes; or, in some instances, because they are deserted and forsaken and left without anyone to turn to for help and care. It is then that the Division of Children's Services of the Department of Economic Security, through the local County Child Welfare Worker, has come to their rescue and has made provision for them to be placed at the Kentucky Children's Home or at one of the boarding homes. Many of these children are not adoptable, but at the same time they are in need of the love and care that a home and family life could give to them.

"We are in need of foster homes for many of these children, and it is our belief that there are many homes in Kentucky where a neglected and dependent child would be welcomed and appreciated. We are, therefore, distributing this leaflet in the hope that many of you thus becoming familiar with the need, will open your hearts and homes and will make application to your local Child Welfare Worker for child to be placed in your home.

"Please take your request or mail it to your County Child Welfare Worker who will give you the information you need and take your application. In the event that there is not a Child Welfare Worker in your county, please contact the Division of Children's Services, Department of Economic Security, Frankfort, Kentucky, and request the necessary information.

"This is a challenge which should be met by many of the good Christian people of Kentucky. The future of our great state and of the nation depends to a very large degree upon what we do to help all children feel that they are a vital and integral part of our life today. How well we face up to the needs of our children who have been caught in the whirlpool of misfortune and tragedy and who need loving care and guidance during the plastic period of their lives will help determine the future well-being of our state.

"You can be a blessing to some child, and that child could well become a greater blessing to you and to your home."

Two Accidents Open 1958 Book

Two minor collisions in Hazard, Thursday, opened the 1958 accident books for the city of Hazard.

No one was injured. Three cars were involved in an accident at 11:20 a. m. when a truck driven by William Burke, Walkertown Station, ran into the rear of a stopped car, driven by Fontaine Grigsby, 711 E. Main St. A third truck, driven by Bobby Lee Walters, Bulan, crashed into the rear of Burke's truck, according to Police Chief Bob Heath.

Grigsby's car received damage to a tail light, rear bumper and fender. Burke's truck was damaged about the grill, front and rear bumpers, hood and tail gate. Walters' truck received damages about the grill, hood, radiator, front bumper and front fenders.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vitaleo, Earnest Anderson and Maulla Combs attended the New Year's Eve party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Brown at Whitesburg.

Pridemore Wins Knott Contest

Margaret Pridemore, fifteen years old Hindman High School was the 1957 winner of the Soil Conservation Essay Contest sponsored by the Courier-Journal. Carolyn Joyce Osborne, another fifteen years old Hindman school student, was the second place winner. The two winning essays in our Knott County Soil Conservation District have already been sent to the Courier-Journal for entry into the State Contest.

The Knott County SCD and the U. S. Soil Conservation Service feel that congratulations are in order for Margaret and Carolyn on a job well done.

Notice To Subscribers-Advertisers

Effective Jan. 8, the Hazard Herald will become a Monday and Thursday publication. The Herald will be in the mails on Monday and Thursday evenings. This change is being made as an accommodation to any number of county subscribers and advertisers who have requested it.

Several mail subscribers and individuals have noted that our present Friday issue is not reaching them until the following Monday. We here recognize the disadvantage of this and believe that the change will insure that all readers realize the full value of their county newspaper.

Unlucky Luck?

The owners of two sets of car keys turned into the city police have reason to believe in luck!

As you have probably already guessed, both sets have a rabbit's foot on them. Police Chief Bob Heath said yesterday the owners may claim them at the police department upon identifying them.

Dr. Bell Resigns As Hindman Pastor

Dr. J. S. Bell, pastor of the Hindman Baptist Church, for 18 years, has resigned to accept the call of the Temple Baptist Church, Champaign, Ill.

Temple Baptist is the only Southern Baptist Church in Champaign and has only been organized about six years. Dr. Bell has been asked to teach a course in Bible at the B.S.U. center at the University of Illinois, Champaign.

Members and friends of the Hindman Baptist Church met Dec. 23 at the church to pay their respects to their pastor and his family. Dr. Bell has given Knott County 18 years of devotion and Kingdom service.

The women of the church served dinner. After dinner, all retired to the main auditorium. Clark Pratt, president of the Brotherhood, acted as master of ceremonies. After appropriate remarks, Mr. Pratt called upon Mr. H. H. Taylor who reviewed the Rev. Bell's early years in the Hindman Baptist Church.

In closing, Mr. Taylor admonished each member to strive to carry on the Lord's work. Sheldon Maggard entertained the congregation by relating some of his experiences and associations with Bro. Bell and spiced his talk with much wit and humor. Kermit Smith and Mrs. Commodore Stone expressed appreciation to Bro. Bell for what he had done for them and their families.

Mrs. Lula Napier paid respects to Mrs. Bell, thereby relating the many church activities she had carried on throughout the years. Truly she has labored long and without ceasing.

Dr. Donald Martin, in behalf of the church, presented quite cleverly, suitable remarks, a silver coffee and tea service to Dr. and Mrs. Bell.

Hudson Returns To Police Duty

Patrolman Romas Hudson, dismissed from the Hazard Police Department in early December for "neglect of duty," has been re-instated by the department. Police Chief Bob Heath announced yesterday.

Hudson returned to duty early this week.

He was dismissed by the Board of Commissioners, Dec. 9, on charges arising out of his failure to report $8.25 turned over to him by a private citizen. As a public hearing brought out, Hudson had left the money on a table near his bed in the fire department, and failed to turn it into the Police Department.

In the suspension order, it was acknowledged by city fathers that Hudson was a "good and reliable officer" and that he "had no intention of converting" the money to his own use.

388 Couples Get Licenses In 1957

Perry Countians turned to "Marrying Sam" less this year than last, but more often than the year before.

Figures in the County Court Clerk's office show that 388 marriage licenses were issued here during 1957; this compares to 440 in 1956, the bumper year since 1953.

The '57 figure, however, is up considerably from the 369 marriage licenses issued in 1955. Figures for 1954 show 419 licenses issued and for 1953, 418 couples joining hands in matrimony.

County Officials Go In Monday

The Perry County courthouse and city hall will get a new look, Monday, when candidates elected Nov. 5 officially take office.

In two offices, both continued, the November victors will serve at least until a ruling is handed down on contest suits involving them.

In two other offices, that of County Court Clerk and Coroner, it will be business as usual. Miss Jesse Horn, the present clerk, and George Archer, coroner, were both re-elected to office by wide margins.

Taking over the disputed offices will be Judge Courtney C. Wells, Democrat, and Babe No-plis, Wells defeated Whitesburg attorney Emmitt Fields for Circuit Court Judge and No-plis defeated Virgil Napier, Republican, in the race for Magistrate, Fourth District.

The final results in both races, however, won't be known until a ruling is handed down sometime in February.

But for Miss Horn, Archer and Judge Wells, the county courthouse will have a new look.

Taking office as county judge will be J. A. Smith, replacing Judge J. H. Banks, defeated in his bid for re-election in the May primaries. Smith defeated Democrat Harve Hensley in the general election.

New to the courthouse circle will be Mrs. Grace Holliday Strong, Republican, who defeated Democrat Sam Combs after Combs had held the office for 18 years.

County sheriff will be Paul Amis, Democrat. Amis will replace T. G. Bingham, appointed to the office in December when the Kentucky Court of Appeals upheld a court order removing Sheriff Bill Cornett from office.

Amis defeated Republican candidate Charlie Combs in the general election, and successfully carried his victory through a recount.

Replacing Tolbert Combs as county attorney will be C. A. Noble, Democrat. Combs will move up to the office of Commonwealth's Attorney for Perry and Letcher Counties. Noble defeated D. Guilford Boleyn, while Combs won out over Republican Scott Duff.

Going in as county jailer will be Charlie Maggard, replacing Bill Cudill, defeated in his bid for re-election.

Out in the county, where there were races in November, the line-up will be: District No. 1, Justice of Peace Buster Begley, Republican, and Constable, Jonah Morris, Republican; District No. 2, Justice of Peace, Gene Combs, Democrat, and Constable, Andy Miller, Democrat; District No. 3, Justice of Peace, Burnam Thomas, Republican, and Constable, Irvin Stacy, Democrat; District No. 5, Justice of Peace, Bradley Combs, Republican, and Constable, Jake Earls, Republican; District No. 7, Justice of Peace, Fess Hakomb, Republican, and Constable, Bill Cress, Republican; District No. 8, Justice of Peace, Curt Engle, Republican, and Constable, Blaine Stidham, Republican.

Taking office as Constable in the Fourth District will be C. J. "Mickey" McCarthy.

At city hall, there will be one change in the officers who held office last year. Going in as a new commissioner will be George Feltner, Walkertown, replacing R. W. Gibson, defeated in his race for election. Feltner takes office tonight during the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Commissioners.

Otherwise, city hall will look much the same with Douglas Combs as Mayor, and Calloway Colwell as the second commis-

Accident Story

Is In Error

In the accident story on the front page of the Herald, Tuesday, it was erroneously stated that J. B. Fitzpatrick Jr., of Hazard, was driving at a high rate of speed.

Fitzpatrick's car was stopped at the time a car driven by Linzy Short, Berea, Ohio, ran into the Fitzpatrick car. Short was cited for reckless driving.

Recipe of The Week

For an adequate amount of vitamin C in your diet during the winter months, include extra servings of foods that are rich in vitamin C. The advice comes from Miss Elizabeth Helton, UK Extension foods specialist, who explains that this vitamin actually helps hold the cells of the body together, like cement between bricks. A lack of it may show up in any place in the body—the skin, teeth, bones, muscles, blood vessels or blood.

It is important to have a daily supply of this nutrient, as the body can store only very small amounts. It is easily destroyed in cooking, although much of it is preserved in modern processing.

Important sources of vitamin C (also called ascorbic acid) are all citrus fruits, tomatoes, strawberries, pineapple, raw cabbage, broccoli, kale, turnip and mustard greens, Irish and sweet potatoes and green pep-

Berea Unit Gets $250,000 For Mountain-Life Study

The Ford Foundation has granted $250,000 to the Appalachian Religious Workers Conference set up a year ago at Berea College for an extensive study of life in the seven state Appalachian Mountain range.

The study with headquarters at Berea College—will look into 17th ascs of life in mountain communities of Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, Alabama and Georgia. It will investigate agriculture, economics, industrialization, education, health, arts and crafts, morals, religious life, and local government.

Dr. Weatherford, a mountain native himself, was concerned that churches, once strong in the mountains had "all but turned their backs on these forgotten people." Some 8,000,000 people live in the study area, 7,000,000 of them in communities of less than 50,000.

Dr. Weatherford and others contended that the major denominations were losing the mountain people to fanatic sects.

He was also concerned that the type of religious gaining among mountain people keeps them trapped in poverty and ignorance.

The conference he called brought together people from widely divergent religious groups. For five days workers from eight Protestant denominations discussed the problems of the church in the mountains.

At the end of the conference, they formed themselves into the Appalachian Religious Workers Conference, with Dr. Weather-

Other Awards Reported

The award was included in $14,284,550 in grants announced yesterday by the foundation.

Vanderbilt University received $250,000 for a graduate program of training and research on economic growth in relatively undeveloped countries.

Among other major awards was one of $1,000,000 to Harvard University for various international studies programs.

Another $1,000,000 grant went to Oxford University to assist in restoring its historical buildings.

Four To Head Project

The two-year Appalachian-conference project will be headed by four men. Dr. W. D. Weatherford, 82-year-old vice chairman of the Berea board of trustees, will be administrative director.

Dr. Howard Beers, rural sociologist at the University of Kentucky, will direct general research. Dr. Earl Brewer, research head of Emory University, will direct religious research, and Dr. Rupert Vance of the University of North Carolina will be research consultant.

Offices Are Set Aside

Seven men—representatives of each of the State universities in the mountain range—will be designated to undertake a phase of the study.

They will enlist 14 graduate students working on Ph.D. degrees for field work.

Berea College has set aside offices for the research staff. Dr. Weatherford said, and the school will begin immediately to raise $50,000 in addition to the Ford grant to establish a library on mountain life.

All organizations dealing with any of the phases of the study will be consulted, he said, for whatever data they can contribute and to check information the study turns up.

The results of the study will be published in book form, and several monographs on special fields of the study will be published.

Is Mountain Native

The study is the brain child of Dr. Weatherford and goes back to an interdenominational conference he called last June per.

As he put it, "The problem that involved was that we did not have accurate data on which to base a forward program." On checking later, the conference found that school and medical people faced the same problem.

Votes To Seek Funds

The conference adopted a statement declaring that religious work in the mountains is often limited to "having souls" and ignores the economic and social plight of the people.

The conference voted to seek funds for a study "of the relation of the church and religion to the economic, health, education, and religious needs of the Appalachian people."

At another conference last summer, the group reaffirmed its desire for such a study, which the Ford grant will make possible.

Behind the research project is a committee of 19. They include representatives of Berea College and the Council of Southern Mountain Workers, 10 religious denominations, and seven at-large members.

TRUTH-AD FOR THE UNCHURCHED

By WINN T. BARR

Jesus said, "I am the vine." A vine is an example of Jesus; it can be used to represent Him. So sometimes He is called "the vine." It doesn't mean that He is really a grape vine. This is figurative language!

Jesus told us to carry a cross daily. The cross is an example of suffering for Christ's sake; it can be used to represent suffering. Hence, we are told to bear a cross. It doesn't mean that we are to carry a real wooden cross. This is figurative language!

The bread and wine are examples of Christ's body and blood; they can be used to represent Him. So Jesus said, "This is my body and this is my blood." It doesn't mean that they were really His flesh and blood. This is figurative language!

Baptism is an example of the washing away of our sins. It represents the washing away of our sins. So sometimes it is spoken of as the washing away of our sins. It doesn't mean that it really does it. This is figurative language!

Baptism is an example of our being put into the death and resurrection of Christ. It represents the effectiveness of His death and resurrection for us. So sometimes it is spoken of as our being put into His death and resurrection. It doesn't mean that baptism actually puts us into His death and resurrection. This is figurative language!

Baptism is an example of our being clothed in the name of Christ. It represents our taking His name and standing. So sometimes it is spoken of as our being clothed in His name. It doesn't mean that it really clothes us in His name. This is figurative language!

Figurative language is the use of some familiar object or action to represent some corresponding truth. It expresses a likeness between the object used and the truth; and sometimes to be graphic it interchanges their names, or qualities, or functions. The language of the Bible is like any other living, throbbing, human language. It is not always rigidly mechanical, but vivid, picturesque, and witty. It even uses riddles sometimes. There are a few things in this life that you have to "catch on to." You can't make all language mechanically literal.

Couch Injured In Slate Fall At Leatherwood Mines

C. R. Mooney

Ronald Whitaker, after quite a few months of illness and three operations for a brain tumor, passed away Dec. 21 at the Hazard Miner's Memorial Hospital.

Ronald was near 16 and a student at Leatherwood High.

He is survived by his parents, Kirby and Josephine C. Whitaker; three brothers, Lennis, Roger Dale and Douglas; two sisters, Linda Sue and Mary Gale, all of Slem.

Funeral services were held Monday at the True Indian Bottom Church in Blackey with Revs. Alva Caudill and Roy Whitaker officiating. Burial was in the Dixon Cemetery.

We wish to extend our greatest sympathy to the Whitaker family in the loss of their son who had many friends and shall be greatly missed by the people who knew him.

Christmas Visitors

Vernon Minard and family, of Vico, spent Christmas with his parents, Delno and Mamie Minard, of Delphia.

Dave King and family spent the Christmas holidays at their home.

Charles and Clarice M. Hatcher and daughter, Jean Allison, spent the Christmas holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Minard, of Slem.

We are glad Mrs. Denver Minard is feeling much better after quite a few days illness.

Marion and Margaret Shepherd and family visited her sister, Nell Grimm, at Viper, Christmas evening.

Haynes and Chloe Bunch and family, of Loyall, visited relatives in Leatherwood, Friday.

Some missionaries and Christian workers met at the Rev. Patterson's home for prayer and fellowship Christmas evening.

Congratulations: Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Combs, of Slem, on your wonderful Christmas gift—a son born Dec. 25, 4:00 a.m., at the Mt. Mary Hospital.

Weight, 7 pounds, 2 ounces. They have selected the name of, "Glen."

Slate Fall Injuries

Billy Couch Jr., son of William Couch, Slem, was hurt in a slate fall, Dec. 27, at the Leatherwood No. 1 mines.

He is in the Mt. Mary Hospital and was reported not too badly hurt. He suffered head and shoulder injuries.

Christmas in and around Slem was rather quiet and peaceful. That is as it should be in remembrance of the birth of our Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ.

Mrs. Ralph Begley, of Cornettsville, had a narrow escape today when her car went over a 50 foot embankment at Puchers' Camp Branch into the Leatherwood Creek. It was reported she was not hurt. Her car was damaged.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Day, of Slem, have enjoyed their grandson, George Reed Ross, being home for the holidays from the Navy.

BUCKHORN

Church Gets New Minister

Bernice T. Hiser

The school had a very lovely Christmas program and tree, Dec. 20, and at the Buckhorn Presbyterian Church, Dec. 22. Instead of the treat being given at the school's Christmas program as heretofore done, it was given in the school's cafeteria, Dec. 10.

Mr. Robert G. McClure was a business visitor in Berea, Dec. 28.

The Presbyterian Church here has secured the pastoral services of Mr. Leon Morgan, a young man from Newark, N.J., who is a student at Louisville Presbyterian Theological Seminary. He spent the holiday week in Buckhorn and made calls at many homes. Very good reports of his preaching ability are made by those who have heard him.

Miss Lizzie Sandlin was a visitor at school last week. She is a 1957 graduate.

Christmas Visitors

Visiting for the holidays: Bobby McClure with the Rev. R. G. McClure and family, Keith and Bobby DeVault with the Agency Matron Mrs. Violet DeVault; Pauline Colwell with Principal and Mrs. M. D. Colwell; Eva Mae Hamblin with Postmaster and Mrs. James Hamblin; Vanda Burns and Mary Lou Boggs, the Older Girl's Home; Grace Moore and family, of Lethair, Mr. and Mrs. Squire Riley; Mrs. Georgia Hoskins and daughter, Sheila of Cincinnati; Mr. and Mrs. John Granville Begley; Bobby Keen and family with Mr. and Mrs. Crit Keen; Steve and Robert Turner and families with Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Turner; and Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Jones, of Memphis, Tenn., with his aunt, Mrs. Bernice Hiser and family. A good time was had by all.

Sick List

On the sick list: Mr. John J. McIntosh is ill and in the hospital at this time. Dewey Daniels is in the same hospital.

Miss Susie Hiser with the flu. Selden Riley's daughter, Jeanette, who has been ill for some time is much improved.

School Repairs

The men employed by the county school board have been working installing radiators for the furnace at the school this week.

Mr. Crit Keen fell while walking to church, Sunday morning, Dec. 29. We hope he isn't hurt seriously.

The Agency's homes were beautifully decorated for Christmas this year; the little girls with a 36-inch star, the little boys with a Christmas tree on top, the big boys with bells around the door and life-size carolers on the lawn, and the heads with large Santa Claus cut-outs on the roof.

Mrs. Margaret Wilder, the Agency's nurse and Matron of the Older Girls' Home, made a quick trip to Midway School last week to bring home the Agency's children in school there.

When I was just a petticoat gal,

My Pop game me a taste

Of tangy wild angelica

From down where a small creek chased

The last-year leaves through beds of ferns;

And I have never forgot:

The memory in my mouth still burns

A kind of freezing hot.

Take you your mess of eclair

Your roasted duck and sick.

While I recall angelica;

And I'll be just as rich.

Recipe Of Week

Since such a large number of our customers here at the Kentucky Power Company enjoyed trying the cookie recipes, we thought this one would be equally as much fun to try. It is called:

Cherry Meringue Puffs

Time: 30-35 Minutes Temp: 275 F.

¾ cup candied cherries, quartered
¾ cup chopped nuts
¼ pound pitted dates, sliced
1 cup confectioners' sugar (sifted)

1 egg white

¼ teaspoon salt

¾ teaspoon vanilla extract

1. Mix cherries, nuts and dates with ¼ cup of the sugar. Beat egg white until foamy. Add salt and continue beating until it stands in peaks.

2. Gradually add remainder of sugar, beating thoroughly until meringue stands in stiff peaks.

3. Fold in vanilla extract and fruit mixture.

4. Drop from spoon on greased cookie sheet. Bake.

5. Remove from sheets at once. Yields 2½ doz.

Thieves Break Into Bonnyman Grade School

Geraldine Aldridge

Thieves broke into the Bonnyman Grade School two nights in succession during the Christmas vacation. Among the things taken from the school were crackers, cookies and chili from the cafeteria, candy, scissors and other small items from the school store, tools (used for school repair work) from the storage room, and some items such as books, paper and magazines from two of the classrooms. A soft drink vending machine was in the hall and the thieves attempted to open it but only succeeded in destroying the key hole with a knife. The thieves entered the building by breaking out one of the windows at the back of the building, getting into a classroom and then breaking through the door into the hall where they then gained entrance into the other rooms.

State Police found some of the stolen items in an abandoned automobile near the school. A thorough investigation is being made by the police.

Let Us Reason Together

By A. C. Grider

Somebody has come up with the idea that, "if baptism is essential to salvation, then the Lord's Supper, and foot-washing, and a wooden cross, and the old testament sacrifices would be essential to salvation." But let's reason together and see if that would necessarily follow.

The Bible doesn't say eat the Lord's supper for the remission of sins. But the Bible DOES say be baptized for the remission of sins. Again, the Bible doesn't say wash your feet to wash away your sins. But the Bible DOES say be baptized and wash away your sins. The Bible doesn't say take up your cross to get into Christ. But the Bible DOES say be baptized into Christ. And finally the Bible doesn't say keep the old testament sacrifices to get into the death of Christ. But the Bible DOES say be baptized into the death of Christ. (See Acts 2:38; Acts 22:16; Gal. 3:27; and Rom. 6:3). Thus our friend tries to make something the Bible says (about baptism), parallel to something the Bible DOES NOT say about the Lord's Supper, and foot-washing, and a wooden cross, and the old testament sacrifices. He errs not knowing the scriptures nor the power of God.

Man tells us that baptism is "left out" of most passages on the subject of salvation. But baptism is NOT left out of Mark 16:16. Jesus put baptism in. MAN has taken it out. Baptism was NOT left out of Acts 2:38. Peter put it in. MAN tries to take it out. Paul put baptism in. Rom. 6:3. MAN takes it out. Baptism is in Gal. 3:27. MAN wants it left out. If we follow Jesus, and Peter, and Paul we will leave baptism in. If we follow MAN we will leave it out. We had better be careful.

Paul said, in Gal. 3:27 we are "baptized INTO Christ." Thus that is what Paul preached. But he said, in Gal. 1:8 that if anybody preached anything other than what he had preached he would be accursed. Thus we have this simple syllogism: 1. Paul preached that we are baptized into Christ. 2. MAN preaches that we get into Christ some other way. 3. Thus man will be accursed. It is serious, my friends. The salvation of souls is at stake.

Let me appeal to you to read your Bible and see for yourself what it says. Don't take what man says. He will say "It's symbolic" or "It's an allegory." But does the BIBLE say it? No! Please listen to the local radio station at 7:30 each Sunday morning and attend services at the Lottin Church of Christ. They make the radio program possible and they make this piece possible each week. It is as scriptural to debate on the platform as it is to debate in the paper. What about a public discussion? I am ready to defend the truth.

WOMEN LIKENED

TO NEWSPAPERS

PORT CLINTON. — Women are like newspapers. Mrs. H. Steele, Toledo Blade reporter, told the Junior Women's Club at nearby Oak Harbor.

"Some use good makeup; others bad. Some have bald faces, others do not." But, she advised, "Man should always have one of his own and not try to borrow his neighbor's."
